

The Miner.

Local Intelligence.

PRESCOTT, JUNE 3.

Recent Arrivals.

Prescott is packed with strangers—good and substantial people, who have recently arrived, from New York, California, Nevada and Southern Arizona—some with the view of settling down, permanently, among us; others, to examine the mineral and agricultural resources of the country, for their own information and advantage; as well as for the information of capitalists of California and Nevada.

Monday morning last, there arrived, via the Prescott and Ehrenburg road, Miss M. Foster, (sister of Mrs. Levi Bashford, of this place), and her two brothers, G. P. and C. B. Foster. These people came direct from the paternal home, Lyons, New York. That they met with an affectionate welcome from Mr. and Mrs. Bashford; and their brother, D. P. Foster, was not in the least, strange, after a long separation. Mr. G. P. Foster is an old tar, and held a prominent position under Farragut. His brother, C. B., has held responsible positions under Wells, Fargo & Co. We had them welcome to Prescott. With them, there came W. M. LaForte, Wm. D. Shiflet, John Curran and John Dunn, of Gold Hill, Nevada, all energetic, intelligent mining men, having means of their own; also, the confidence of well-to-do mining capitalists. Then Calvin Jackson, B. Hussey, Joe Vorshay, and last, but not least, Capt. John A. Curtis, who will be recalled, was, several months ago, while leading a party to the Barro mines, attacked by Indians near Florence, Pima county, when he, with his party, had a very narrow escape from death or capture.

Over the Mohave route, there arrived a few days ago, from White Pine, Nevada, a large party of men, under the leadership of a Mr. Miner. This party is well provided with animals, wagons, etc. The men started out with the intention of prospecting the White Mountains, but have abandoned that idea, and will turn their attention to Bradshaw District.

Gone a Preaching.

Miss Garrison and Mrs. Cedarholm started for Southern Arizona about the middle of last week, and intended "bringing up" at Tucson. After a long and earnest effort on the part of these ladies to raise Prescott away up toward heaven, they became disgusted at their ill success, and our want of goodness (?) as a people, and hence departed for the sunny south, in quest of more tractable disciples. May your portion be a grand success and a prolonged absence from Prescott, ladies.

Express to Bradshaw.

T. Garrison has established an express line between Prescott and the Bradshaw mines, and is prepared to carry letters, papers, packages, etc., for a consideration. We wish him unbounded success. The operation of his line has supplied a want which was keenly felt here, as well as at Bradshaw.

Not the Ones.

The Pinal Apaches have enough sins of their own to answer for, without having those of other lands of Apaches saddled upon them, as was the case, last week, when this paper accused the Pinals of having committed at least one murder and several robberies on the road to New Mexico, between the Verde and Little Colorado rivers, which outrages were, no doubt, committed by Apache-Mohaves or Apache-Tontos.

An Assayer on the Ground.

Bradshawites can now have their ores tested by a competent assayer, Charles R. Heyne, who has pitched his tent in the district. Mr. Heyne has laid the best cause to announce these facts in an advertisement.

A School.

We learn that the sum of $308 has been subscribed towards supporting the school now being taught in Prescott by Chaplain Gilmore, and, as a school census will soon be taken, and taxes collected, the chances are that a school will, hereafter, be kept running pretty steadily.

"Natural Born" Thieves.

All Indians—tame and wild—are thieves. The Pimas—good as they are—will steal at every opportunity; and the simple-looking, industrious Moquis, to the north of us, are no better, in this respect than the Apaches. A band of Moquis came here recently, were packed down with provisions, started homeward apparently well satisfied; but, it seems they were not, for, upon reaching Chino Valley, they robbed a house and stole a lot of hides from Jas. Baker.

The Weather.

Last Monday was not the most delightful specimen of May weather we have seen. Hail-stones are pleasant to look upon, as they sportively hop around upon the cheerless street, but their joyous gambols lose all this charm when the unprotected face is compelled to submit to their capricious and this pleasure and pain were both experienced by us on Monday. The clouds cleared away on Wednesday, and the days since have been bright and beautiful.

WM. H. HARDY, of Hardyville, has again put in appearance here, and we hail his arrival with pleasure. Being the most energetic man in Northern Arizona, we beg of him to imbue a little of his go-ahead spirit into our business men, sufficient to induce them to grade a wagon-road to Bradshaw. Mr. Hardy, if properly backed, would soon open a good road, and we are in favor of furnishing him means, and telling him to sail in.

The Cold Spring Dairy Company—Adam Scott, N. W. Bowen and others—of the Rio Verde, are furnishing the military and civil dwellers of that beautiful river, with good milk and butter, and we hope to hear of their financial success in the business.

SEE notice of Sunday School Celebration. The children are training for the performance, and will, no doubt, set well their parts.

THERE is no discount on C. S. Adams' "Old Bourbon" if it was captured by Indians and re-captured by the owner while in transit—that is, if we are capable of judging.

How is it?—We have been told that a certain peculiar sensation has, for some time past, been disturbing the day-dreams and guiding the evening rambles of our worthy and popular friend, "Doc." Mueller. It is probably Aer fault, though; albeit, we see nothing wrong in the affair. "Doc's" new house is rapidly striding towards completion, however; so we will just keep still and await developments.

Our Trip.

We visited Skull Valley, Camp Date Creek, Williamson Valley and Camp Hualpai, last week, in company with Colonel Nelson of the Pay Department, U. S. A., and his brother; and, but for the fact that we have been suffering from fever and ague since our return, Saturday last, should have spoken quite fully of men and things seen by us on the trip. The most we can do in this issue, is, to return thanks to those generous persons who treated us so kindly, at every place visited by us, and to curse the terrible fever and ague that took possession of our mortal frame, last fall, in Southern Arizona, while taking a "pleasure trip" with General Stoneman.

Nobody having applied at Jackson's Saloon, to purchase the Hawkins rifle, since the match on Thursday of last week, it was agreed upon between the competitors, Messrs. Niles and Jackson, that the match had better be shot over again. Accordingly, on Tuesday last, Jackson placed the bell-muzzled instrument of torture upon his shoulder, and accompanied by Niles and some twenty others started for the "Piny Wood." Here a heavy plank, about the size of a coffin lid, was erected against a pine, and bearing upon its blackened surface a whole page of foolscap. One hundred yards were stepped off—much to the detriment of a pair of slight-legged pantalones—when Jackson took his position behind old Hawkins and turned him loose. If that bullet is still traveling at the same speed with which it passed that tree, it is, doubtless, at present, somewhere near the open polar sea. Niles now stepped forward, caught the metallic monster by the nozzle, reared it upon its breech, poured a log, coiled himself around the wooden end and "blazed away." Away went a mass of lead, weighing less than half a pound, cutting down twice and clearing a track through the shrubbery for many a mile. And so the match continued for upwards of an hour until, finally, Niles did lodge a bullet at one extremity of the plank, when the party returned to town and Jackson paid the forfeit.

Wanted—A Bank.

It would seem, to our judgment, that the business of Prescott and the vicinity is now sufficiently extensive and of ample importance to warrant the establishment here of a banking house. That such an institution would pay large dividends there can hardly be a question; while, as a source of convenience and advantage to the public its value could hardly be over estimated. Let our muffled men take this matter under consideration and see whether they might not mature this public benefit to their own advantage.

Those irrepressible lawless, Raible and Sherrer, are again making improvements upon their premises, which, when completed, will give them a large, airy and beautiful saloon.

A. P. Van Duser and John Shively arrived from California by Thursday's stage. Mr. Van Duser is connected with Uncle Sam's Revenue Department. Mr. Shively is an old miner, who has come from Montana to look at the "Tiger." At least, so we have been informed.

COL. ROGER JONES, General Schofield's able, courteous, unpretending Inspector-General, who has just made the tour of the Territory, and returned to California, well satisfied that the Apaches are the worst Indians on the face of the earth, and Arizona the richest region in America, will recommend that lines of telegraph be erected between the several military posts; the abandonment of Camp Apache, and other good measures.

Saddle Train for Bradshaw.

J. A. Simpson is prepared to carry passengers, letters and packages, from Prescott to Bradshaw, and vice versa, at reasonable rates. See his advertisement to this effect.

Thursday last, a large party of fortune hunters, arrived here from the west. The party is well provided with animals, tools and provisions.

D. Moreland, the discoverer of the great Tiger mine, is, at present, in Prescott, recuperating after his trials and troubles at Bradshaw. Although he and others consider his mining interest worth at least $100,000, Doc's manners, style and bearing have not changed, in the least; he is the same open-hearted, generous, ardent old prospector as previous to his having discovered a mine that will give employment to thousands of men, and enrich hundreds.

THE frame building—for a private residence—now being erected for A. L. Mueller, on the ruins of the old Quartz Rock Saloon, bids fair to be one of the coziest residences in Prescott. T. S. Huff is the architect and builder.

Sale of Town Property.

Constable N. P. Pierce will, to-day, sell some town-lots, etc. See notice of sale, on fourth page.

From Camp Verde.

Hugo A. B. Reid, Mr. Richards, Post Trader, Assistant Surgeon Steigers, and Lieutenant Thompson, Regimental Quartermaster, Third Cavalry, arrived from Camp Verde Tuesday last. Mr. Reid informed us that Indians had burned the grass for miles around the post; that, after the fire, there came a pretty good rain, which wet the ground pretty effectively, thereby planting farmers and others. The soldiers at the picket station at Ash Creek, informed the party that, one night recently, a party of Indians stole some animals from the station, but they had to abandon the animals, which, of course, fell back into "loyal" hands. And these Indians were so-called peaceful Apache Mo-haves.

Walnut Grove.

About thirty-five miles southwest from Prescott, and a much shorter distance from Bradshaw, bids fair to become a prominent point. Around it, on every hand, are miles of great richness: The Hassayampa containing five or six shallow-heads of water the year round, cuts through the valley, which is some eight or ten miles in length, by from one to three in width; dotted with barn houses, fields of grain, peach orchards, etc. It is some time since we visited this beautiful valley, but the recollection of it still lingers in our mind, and persons who have recently passed through it, speak of it as one of nature's gems.

Religious.

Three Ministers—Messrs. White, Gilmore and Groves, have been holding a protracted meeting here, with what success they have not informed us.

Duffield Ham

As an article of diet, the Duffield ham has not a superior, and so the agents for this meat, Messrs. Platt & Newton, of San Francisco, are anxious to introduce it here, as is shown by their advertisement. To-day's MINER, we next week, propose to publish directions for keeping and cooking these hams.

Movements of Freight Trains

Dr. W. W. Jones' freight train—10 or 12 wagons, drawn by engine—arrived here from Ehrenburg, Colorado river, Wednesday last, with goods for Fort Whipple depot. T. Saunders and other freighters started their wagons, last week, for Hardyville, on the Colorado river.

Henry F. Hardy has recently conducted his ex-train, from Hardyville to Camp Hualpai, hauling freight for that post. He then, under direction of his uncle, Wm. H. Hardy, started over the cut-off to Williamson Valley, and made an excellent road, thus making the entire road, from Los Angeles and San Bernardino, California, to Hardyville, Camp Hualpai, Williamson Valley and Prescott, the best in this southwestern country. The grass along this entire route is plenty and good, as is, also, the water. Charles Brock's large train is employed by the Bradshaw mines, hauling logs, lumber, quartz, etc. The train of Sam and Jake Miller, and that of D. Hazard, are on the way from California.

Henry A. Bigelow.

This gentleman's pen has done good service for Arizona, in the columns of the Miner, and other leading papers, not to mention the able articles he has written for the Tucson Citizen. Last year, during our absence among the Apaches, Mr. Bigelow edited the Miner, with signal ability and last week, while we were absent with Colonel Nelson, Mr. Bigelow contributed several good articles, for which good labor he will please accept our distinguished consideration.

THE Messrs. Kinsell, Traders at Camp Date Creek, have lost heavily by robbers, during the past two weeks. Upon one occasion, their store at Date Creek was entered and some 50 or 60 gallons of whisky were spilled and spirited away. A day or two ago, a stock of sugar-bears, etc., disappeared from the wagon in which it was being conveyed from Prescott to Date Creek, and the loss is charged to the escort. We have no space to make for the robbers, and hope to hear of their being punished.

Letter from Ash Creek.

CAMP AT ASH CREEK, A. T. }
May 26th, 1871 }

To the Editor of the Arizona Miner:

During the last week, Indians have been quite plentiful in this neighborhood. The mountains surrounding our camp are covered with signal smokes in the day-time, and illuminated by their camp fires at night. Indians themselves have been seen several times, in numbers from two to four; and twice last week, once by a party of Mexicans, the second time by ourselves while they were in the act of stealing the stage mules, at this place—which, however, was prevented by the prompt interference of our men.

We are prepared for an attack all the time, and should give them a very warm battle; for, although our number is very small, we are well supplied with ammunition. M.

Prospects at Phoenix.

The following extract from a private letter written us by a friend at Phoenix, under date of May 18th will show how justly buoyant are the hopes of that thriving settlement: J. M. Bryant has two "headers" running in the valley, cutting about 30 acres per day. He has also a splendid "thresher" here, and we will not be bothered as much this year as we were last. Phoenix is growing rapidly. Richard's new mill will be running by July 1st, and making flour for us. Dennis & Murphy will get into their new store in about ten days. John Averech is building a large house, about 40x60, intended for Headquarters, now that Stoneman is removed. A new blacksmith shop is now nearly completed, and preparations are being made for numerous other buildings. In fact we are a growing and prosperous people, and everything is lovely.

ABOUT DESERTION.

The positions of private soldiers and non-commissioned officers in Arizona are not very desirable, at present, still, we think, enlisted men have no right to desert. True, Government has partially broken its contract with them, by cutting down the amount of pay and allowances promised them when they enlisted, and by returning the money retained from their monthly pay, which money it has withheld and used for years, and paid no interest upon. No doubt, this back pay should have been withheld, and small interest allowed upon it, so that the soldier would have something more than the getting of his daily bread to attach him to the service. Then, men enlist to "soldier," and it is entirely wrong to keep those upon the frontiers eternally at work, making roads and drudging around posts. Hire citizens to do the work, and let the soldiers fight the Indians, guard mails, surveying and prospecting parties, and there will be less discontent in the Army, and fewer desertions. Again, it was wrong in Congress and the President to assign certain officers, who would be more at home in sea-coast fortifications, to duty on the frontiers; at least, there are instances upon record here, where the policy has worked ill to the service.

From our knowledge of the posts in this Department, we believe enlisted men fare better, in the matter of provisions, than the majority of citizens, so that it cannot be starvation that has caused so many to desert. Therefore, we counsel the "boys" to stick to a government that has broken faith with them, and prove that in the matter of honor they are superior to Congressmen.

MARRIED.

At El Monte, California. Another Fair Californian captured by an Arizonian. By letter from El Monte, California, we learn that J. D. Price, of this county, and Miss Annie P. Dougherty, of El Monte, were recently married, by Justice J. A. King, and we do hereby, most sincerely wish the newly wedded pair long lives, happiness and prosperity.

BORN.

Your Phoenix, Maricopa county, May 25, to the wife of J. W. Swilling, a son.

A note from our old friend, J. B. McKinnis, informs us that the blessed maid present of the younger, and several of old parent's friends, celebrated the coming of the young Maricopian in becoming style. As we were not present at the nuptials, we will now drink to the first American citizen born in Maricopa county, and hope that he will honor his father, mother, Territory and country.

Shortest, Best and Safest Route to Northern Arizona.

The Prescott and Mohave Toll-Road has been greatly improved, and is now in good repair. All teams hauling freight from Los Angeles or San Bernardino to Northern Arizona will be charged but half toll for the next six months after date.

The whole road will be worked up to a first-class road during the present summer. Toll Gates will be established at the Burnt Ranch and Williamson Valley, and all parties will be expected to pay toll, as they pass through said gates.

Evidence Accumulates That no Baking Powder can stand the test of a careful chemical analysis like DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER. All goods subjected to the most critical analysis, no ingredients could be found entering into the composition but such as are perfectly pure and nutritious.
